

Website Assignment

Statement of Attribution and Fair Use:

To complete the homepage banner of my website, I utilized an image that I found via Google Images which was a snapshot from a YouTube video. I claim that this is fair use because I am not monetizing the content used, and I am rather using the content in a school-related work. The video content from which the image grab came from is referenced from freemultimedia.vn, where there are various forms of media available to the public for free.

The background image for my main content page is a variation from a book cover. This image is fair use because the site that provided the image was the creator of the image with a transparent background, and they expressed that the image was available for reuse without monetization.

On my webpages, I also used a couple images that were taken during class by photography partner. The use of this photograph should be considered fair use because the image was used in a classroom setting. Furthermore, the photographer took this image with the intent for me to use it for personal projects for the Comm Arts course.

The rest of the images on my website were taken by myself, so they are clearly fair use.

Bibliography

Portraits of myself taken by my partner. 13 September 2018.